A Message from our 2009 - 2010 President

"Invest In Our Future"

With Global Recession, the stock market falling and the housing bubble bursting; could there be any more bad news. I know these are difficult times and there is a lot of uncertainty, but like all other crisis this too shall pass. It would be a shame if we didn't learn from this and emerge stronger, smarter and more diligent. "Invest in your future" is not just a financial decision, but one of commitment.

The Media has us convinced the sky is falling and there is nothing you can do. I think they are wrong. Now is the time, more than ever, to focus on the things you can control. You may not be able to change the markets, but you certainly can improve your knowledge and future value to your company, clients and most of all yourself.

Education is the commitment we can make in ourselves and our peers to join together in moving the industry to a better position. As President of the Colorado Association of Certified Closers, that is the goal I have in mind each day as I move our Association forward into the future.

Please join me and others as we

"Invest In Our Future"

Marcia L. Wallis, SCREC

CACC President, 2008 - 2010
